OUT OF SIGHT, OUT OF MIND?
ISOLATIONISM IS NO SOLUTION

Building walls along borders and interning migrants causes many people to die travelling along dangerous routes or endure harsh, inhuman conditions in camps. Orderly escape and migration routes reduce the risks and costs people have to bear, easing the way to a new beginning. Resettlement programmes to protect refugees also make good sense—for instance resettlement in third countries—as does the granting of humanitarian visas by embassies and consulates.
